4. Organization of Intramural Tournaments

Intramural tournaments are more than just sports events; they are an opportunity for teacher trainees to develop and expose their organizational skills. These skills are invaluable in their future careers, enabling them to manage classrooms, coordinate school events, and lead educational initiatives effectively. Through the challenges and experiences of organizing such tournaments, teacher trainees learn to plan meticulously, communicate effectively, solve problems creatively, and lead confidently, all of which are essential for their growth as physical educators and leaders. The students of our institution are divided into four houses namely Viswanathan Anand House, Sachin Tendulkar House, Dhyan Chand House and Milkha Singh House and competitions in various sports and games are conducted on inter houses basis. Through this more students are getting opportunity to compete in various sports and games and develop their skills as well as getting opportunity to develop their organizational and officiating skills also.
